LONDON, Sept 21 -- It is reported from Brussels that the Belgian Dutch are making extensive preparations for the reception of President Kruser. The first reception will be at Flushing on board the Dutch warship on which he is travelling it is also proposed to erect a monument to President Krüger at Flushing. ST. PHTERSBURG, Sept. 18 .- President Kruger's object in coming to Europe is to appeal to the Tribunal of International Arbitrators instituted by The Hague Peace Conference, to which Great Britain is a signatory Power. It is stated on trustworthy authority that Russia will not depart from the policy of nonintervention in South African affairs, because the Czar is most anxious to maintain good relations between the Powers in order to settle the Chinese difficulty. LORENZO MARCUES, Sept. 20. Preparations Swarthmore College. According to the declaration of the individual to whom the copyare being made for the departure of President Kruger for Holland on board the Dutch warrights have been issued, the university titles and shields are to be used as trade marks for whiskey. The applications are all filed under date of July 1, 1900, with the statement that the uties and shields have been used as distinguishing brands for whiskey since July 1, 1900. Each trademark is issued under a separate application, in which the essential feature which it is desired to use as a trademark is set forth Yale's, for instance, is as follows: "Essential feature—the words: "Yale University," used since July 1, 1900." The application for a copyright of the shield is as follows: "Essential feature—the representation of a shield or escutcheon and an open book depicted at the central part of the field of the same. Used since July 1, 1900."

The use of the proud names of these great institutions of learning for the purpose of booming whiskey is, of course, without their consent, and probably without consultation with anybody with authority to represent them, and the news will probably come with as much of a shock to most non-oillegians as it will to most of the graduates. The fact that the United States Patent Office has sanctioned the use of the dites in the way proposed, indicates that those who have a legitimate right to the use of them never took the trouble to have them copyrighted, presumably never supposing that they would ultimately be pur to the use when the Pennsylvania whiskey purveyor contemplates. The name of the concern that has used the seals of the various colleges is Lawrence McCormick, Philadelphia, Pa. To-night President Hadley of Yale could not be found at his home. Other eminent Yale University officials, who were questioned about this use of the Yale seal, on the right about allowing colleges is Lawrence McCormick, Philadelphia, Pa. It is sanotioned by the United Sta ship Gelderland. The date of his departure in not known to the public. It is said that the reason why he did not sall on the German steamship Herzon, as originally planned, was because Lloyds, who are the underwriters for the gold taken from a train on Sept. 2, are taking legal proceedings against Krüger

Sir William Vernon Harcourt Points Out Unfulfilled Government Pledges.

Special Cable Dupuch to THE SUN.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The Right Hon. Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Liberal leader, has issued an electoral address to his constituents in which he blames the Ministry for failing to check or guard against the military preparations of the Transvaal, although they had full knowledge thereof, which knowledge the country did not share. He says he sees no practical conclusion for the war except the absorption of both States, but he adds that the sooner full self-government is granted the better hope there will be for South Africa.

The Island of Navassa, long noted for its guano deposita, was sold at auction yesterday some cigars sold in this town called Yale The sale is said to have been under an order of the Supreme Court, directing the receiver of the Navassa Phosphate Company, s seal that has been sacredly cherished and the owner of the island, to dispose of it, so as to satisfy the claims of creditors there was a general protest among the officers of the university, and it is quite probable that

The property was bid in for $25,000 by Eugene Richards, Jr., attorney, on behalf of some of the creditors. The whole proceeding was a surprise to Percy R. Gray, who is engaged in the ink business in Brooklyn and is a stockholder in the Navassa Phosphate Company. He had not received notification that any legal steps had been taken to dissolve the company and despose of the property, and only learned of the proposed sale on Thursday newspaper. Yesterday morning he consulted by seeing an obscure notice in a cago, Oxford and Cambridge universities and Yesterday morning he consulted Gen. Horatio C. his father-in-law, about rights have been issued, the university titles and matter. Gen. King went over to the Real Estate Exchange to make inquiry, but when he got there the sale had just been effected. Mr. Richards told him that proceedings had been taken at Albany by the Attorney-General for the dissolution of the company and that the Supreme Court had authorized the sale by the receiver. The creditors, in whose behalf the belonged in Baltimore. When seen last night Gen. King said that probably he would make some further inquiries when seen last night Gen. King said that probably he would make some further inquiries in regard to the legal proceedings, as there was some doubt whether the motion for the dissolution of the company had actually been granted. Unless such is the case he is at a loss to know how the courts would authorize the saie of the property by the receiver. Gen. Ring said that as he was ignorant of the history of the case he would not charge any irregularity, but he thought it strange that Mr. Gray, who owned considerable stock in the company, had not been notified of the proceedings. He also said that no notice of the proposed sale of the Island had been posted at the Real Estate Exchange.

The little island of Navassa was discovered several years ago by a Capt. Coleman of Baltimore, who planted the American flag upon it and claimed it as his property. He had a long dispute with the Spanish Government over the ownership, but finally his title was confirmed. Capt. Coleman sold the island to a syndicate for $200,000 and in a short time the phosphate company was organized to develop the guano deposits, in which the sole value of the Island consisted, as it was almost entirely destitute of vegetation. For some years the company had a practical monopoly in the sale of phosphate, but on the discovery of phosphate deposits in the United States the sales steadily declined, and for many vears, it is said, the company has paid no dividends. On the breaking out of the Spanish war all operations on the island were suspended and the ships, which were either owned or chartered by the phosphate company, were disposed of, and work has not been resumed. Not having had an opportunity to learn anything about the affairs of the company or the condition of the plant on the island, Gen. King was unable to say last night whether $25,000 was a fair value for the property. It is said that the negroes who were employed to work not the island were virtually in a state of slavery and that many of them had been shanghaled from Hayti and other laces.

little sisters were watching the scenery go by as the train they were in sped on to New York. Fred had earned 65 cents the day before and that's how they were able to pay travelling expenses. Fred bought one whole ticket and the conductor allowed the three to travel on it. When they left the train at the Grand Central Station the noise and rattle of the traffic in the street, the trolleys and roar of the elevated road above bewindered them. They were afraid to venture into the street, and holding tight to one another, with all their courage and desire to see the sights gone, they wandered about the waiting rooms of the station for five hours. Hungry, bewildered and altogether miserable, the three small adventurers were about to seek the advice of the Navassa is a small island of the Caribbean Sea, off the west coast of Hayti, at the south-west entrance of the Windward Passage. Thomas Tuski, 13 years old: Joseph Williams, attogrator insertation, the times small adventurers were about to seek the advice of the majestic policeman at the station entrance when they spied Mrs. Lena Wolf of Mount Kisco. They told her they had come to the city to see the sights, and she gave them a good seciding and took them home with her.

When the Mount Kisco police heard that the missing children were found they heaved a great sigh of relief. But early yesterday morning came an alarm that little Rachel had disappeared again. A new search for her was begun, For hours the Mount Kisco cops searched vainly. They even telegraphed to neighboring villages, which was entirely unnecessary, for shortly before noon Mr. Archibald found his little daughter fast asleep in the haymow in the barn. How she got there she didn't explain. Tuesday charged with breaking into William Parker's jewelry store at 56 Newark avenue and stealing $500 worth of goods, which they buried in the yard at the rear of the store. Justice Hoos committed them to the women's prison at the Oakland avenue police station. Matron Wyatt put them together in one large cell. When Sergeant William Duffy made his rounds at midnight on Thursday the cell was erupty. A general alarm was sent out, but nothing was heard of the boys until John and Joseph Williams were brought back by their father.

The boys said that Tuski had pried open the cell door with a board taken from his bunk. From the corridor they reached a balcony. From this balcony they got to the roof of a stable adjoining and then jumped to the ground in Cook street. Tuski, they said, boarded a freight train going to Philadelphia. They wandered about until they got tired and hungry and then went home.

Tuski has twice robbed his father, who is a saloon keeper. The first time he stole $000 and the second time $200. After each robbery he travelled about the country until the money was spent. Then he went home and his father forgive him. Now Tuski says he will have his boy punished.

the majority of the members who were discusssing the affair was in favor of meting out strict discipline to the offenders; but there were a, few who held that the affair was a tempest in a teacup, and that the men had overstepped the line between conviviality and unruly conduct by such a small margin that a suspension would meet the exigencies of the case. As a rule the members of the club act more reely at the Travers Island clambake than at the city clubhouse and it is not unusual to see one of the usually staid members leading the band in a spirit of fun, and occasionally performing on the musician's instrument. E. Sanger, who is an old man familiarly known as "Pop," has a predilection for leading the band. He was in a party that had driven down to the lake from Larchmont on John F. Baudouine's coach. They sat at one of the cross tables and supplemented beer which accompanied the feast with a liberal allowance of champagne. Toward the end of the dinner made a fair target for his friends and the remnants of the edibles on the table were hurled at the impromptu leader. He was invited to sit down by a messenger from President John R Van Wormer, who sat at the head of the table, and for a few moments peace reigned. Then another member who has not been brought up on charges, as his firm is entirely innopicked up the bass drum and marched between the tables. The tempta-tion was too great for the merry party at Baudouine's table, and a fu illade began which resembled heavy artillery when com-pared with the previous skirmsh, in which

If it is deemed to be for the best interest of the club to expel any or all of the three members that course will be pursued. Any less severe measure might be adopted. But in any event the matter must be decided by the board, any member of which has the right to suspend a member pending an investigation, as was done in this case. It is needless to say that no governor ever exercises his prerogative of suspension except in onse where he deems it best for the discipline of the club. Prior to last January the club had suffered considerably from lack of discipline, but we are fast weeding out the undesirable members who are not athletes and not fully canable of appreciating the work of our best athletes. It is our aim to have our club as treproachable in the matter of decorum as it is to be invincible in general athletics." to be invincible in general athletics.

PRINCETON, Sept. 21. Owing to the warm weather which prevailed to-day many of the hard parts were cut out of the Tigers' practice, and the afternoon Was again spent in running through formations and individual instruction. The little work that was done, however, fell to the linemen and in particular to the candidates for the three centre positions, the Lawrenceville freshman, DeWitt, right guard; Dana, centre, and Brown, the big new man, left guard. This is the centre trio that has been pushed by Coach Edwards and the one that he spent an hour in drilling this afternoon. In order to make his course of instruction more thorough the excaptain donned his uniform and faced first one and then another of the men. Charlie Young, the old Cornell player, did not appear in uniform, and it is said that the faculty is opposed to his playing ITHACA. Sept. 21.—Coach Haughton gave the first instructions to Cornell's football team in play formation to-day. He did not line the men up according to merit, but took out two teams and each team had 'Varsity timber in its make-up. The formations were gone through with slowly at first, in order that all of the points might be thoroughly understood. There is an abundance of candidates out, the number to-day being forty-five, but the coaches complain because so few of the candidates are trying for the line. Of the whole squad only eleven are aspirants for the line positions, and of these eleven but four will try for end. With vacancies at left tackle, left end and right guard to fill, the prospects for a strong line are not the best. There are four promising candidates for quarter back: Thomas, '01. Demauric, '02. Tydeman, '05. and Brewster, '04. Thomas is the more likely, as he was a good substitute to George Young last year. Capt. Starbucks arm has improved so rapidly that he was able to punt this afternoon.

STAMFORD, Sept. 21.—Betts Academy has entered upon active football practice, and the chances are promising for it to be once more represented by one of the strongest secondary teams in the State. There is considerable new the state of the strongest secondary teams in the state. teams in the State. There is considerable new material which cannot be judged as yet. The academy has turned out several good players. Jim Hyde, who is playing full back at Yale, learned the game here and was for three years full back of the academy team. Haroid Weeks, who won distinction with Columbia last year, also played on Betts a few years ago, and about

Branford Point, Sept. 21.—The Columbia football squad lined up to-day for signal practice. There was no change in the make-up of the team. The feature of the practice was the goal kicking of Ashley, the Colorado boy. Sanford put the rush line in front of Ashley and sent the tackles down upon him to try his nerve. He stood the test and did his usual phenomenal goal kicking. His distance was remarkable. Sanford said of him this evening: "That boy does not seem to be able to miss a goal. He is a wonder. We have now tried him under all kinds of conditions and he seems equally sure in his goal dropping. I expect to see him do great things when the season opens."

to see him do great things when the season opens.

The Columbia squad will be broken up on Monday, as many of the players have to go to New York to take examinations. The squad will all leave Branford on Thursday and go to New York to train. There was an addition to the squad to-day by the arrival of Holman, a Chicago boy, who is big and strong and eager to discuss Daily's action, but show that they have no more use for him. When Daily left here yesterday he promised to return, but Columbia does not expect him.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 21.—The Pennsylvania team put in their last practice at merely conditioning work to-day. On Monday they will go to Franklin Field, and real football will be begun in tackling, falling on the bail and running with the ball. No line-up will be taken until Wednesday. The morning's practice to-day was devoted by Coach Woodruff to Graves and Woodley, two of the most promising quarter back candidates; because of the heat but few of the others turned out. In the afternoon, after the regular punting and catching practice the men were divided into four teams and coached by Woodruff, Hare, Gardiner and Kennedy.

New Haven. Sept 21—Cornelius Daly, the Worcester hoy who rowed in the four of the Wanchusetts Boat Club in the National Regatts this year, arrived in New Haven to-day. Daly is here, he says, to try the entrance examinations for Yale. Daly has been training at Branford Point for the past ten days with the Columbia football squad. He is an aspirant for griditon honors. Why he joined the Columbia squad and then left the New Yorkers and came to Yale he has not explained. Yale men are not pleased with his actions and Columbia men are angry. Daly saw Capt. Brown of the Yale team to-day, but Brown did not urse him to-day, but Brown did not likely to be put on the 'Varsity squad. If Daly enters Yale he will of course have a chance to try for the freshman team, but he is not likely to be put on the 'Varsity team right off. He will have to prove his metal first and do good work in his studies in order to clear up his leaving Columbia. He is said to be a clever oarsman, but he is green at football. His friends are in doubt about his ability to pass the entrance examinations. They say he has always wanted to come to Yale, but was afraid of the examinations, and in a case of faint-heartedness lotned and left Columbia. Yale has not mude the slightest effort to get Daly here, and, in fact, is bored by the whole affair. The Yale 'Varsity lined up this afternoon as follows:

Ends, Coy and Gould; tackles, Stillman and Kunis bored by the whole affair. The Yale Yale sity lined up this afternoon as follows:
